

DEPOSED WAR HEAD WITH ARMY MARCHES TOWARD PETROGRAD

Korniloff Has Issued Manifesto Declaring That Provisional Government with Kerensky as Premier Has Proven Itself Incapable of Coping with the Situation

LATTER MOVES FORCES TO MEET KORNILOFF

The Situation in Russia Has Taken on a Very Serious Aspect Following Korniloff's Ultimatum to the Government—Civil War Now Seems to Be Imminent

Petrograd, Sept. 11.—According to reports at the Winter Palace where the government council was in session throughout yesterday, a considerable force of supporters of General Korniloff already have passed Luga on the way to Petrograd. The government refuses to make a statement but the foreign minister informed the Associated Press he believed that Korniloff's forces consist of only a few hundred men. The town and the railroad station at Luga are in Korniloff's hands.

By order of Kerensky, the railroad track between Luga and Petrograd has been torn up in places, gangs engaged in the work all night. The government last night made repeated efforts to induce General Alexieff, the former commander-in-chief, to take command against Korniloff, but met with refusal. Members of the government state there is no prospect whatever of Korniloff's submitting.

Premier Kerensky is having difficulties within the capital with the extremists of both sides following the ultimatum of Korniloff. The whole Russian cabinet has resigned in order to give Kerensky full liberty of action. All the ministers for the time being will remain in their offices.

In conversations with the Associated Press today the leaders of the Petrograd council of deputies declared the provisional government's trump card was that the railroad employees were entirely on its side and that the obduracy of Korniloff would result in a general strike, depriving Korniloff of all supplies and of imposing his will on the rest of Russia.

Korniloff has issued an order to his army to take Petrograd and a manifesto to his army declaring that the provisional government with Kerensky at the head has shown itself incapable of coping with the situation. Korniloff has ordered his troops to detain at the railroad station at Dno and march on and besiege Petrograd. The government infantry still is moving out of the capital to oppose the Korniloff forces.

Alexander J. Guchkoff, the Octoberist leader, who formerly held the positions of president of the Duma, chief of the munitions bureau and minister of war and navy and interim, has gone over to Korniloff. Guchkoff left Petrograd Saturday for the Russian field headquarters.

General Denikin, commander of the Russian armies on the southwestern front, has telegraphed Kerensky that he intends to support Korniloff.

Petrograd, Monday, Sept. 10. (Delayed).—A council of all the ambassadors, including those representing neutral countries, was held late this afternoon, at which the situation was discussed, about which all information was refused. Following the meeting the ambassador from the entente nations had a separate conference.

FLEEING FROM PETROGRAD.

Inhabitants are Hurrying Away as Germans Advance.

London, Sept. 11.—A dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Petrograd tells of the commencement of the partial evacuation of Petrograd.

"People," says the correspondent, "are hastily leaving the city. Outgoing trains are filled to their utmost capacity and there are great masses of people at all the stations."

"The government is taking measures to empty the city. It intends to remove its numerous educational institutions having boarding establishments and also to give facilities for the removal of the private effects. These steps are principally connected with the question of subsistence and are only partly the result of the military situation."

SIX GERMAN "SUBS" SUNK

Attacked a Merchant Fleet Which Was Defended by Warships

TWO MERCHANT SHIPS WERE SACRIFICED

Meagre Report of Encounter Received by Navy Department

Washington, D. C., Sept. 11.—Six hostile submarines are believed to have been destroyed off the coast of France on Sept. 5 when they attacked a fleet of merchant ships, of which the American steamer Westwego was one. Two of the merchantships were lost. A report from Paris to this effect reached the navy department today.

The department's statement says: "The navy department has received a report from Paris which states that the steamer Westwego reports on Sept. 8 that while cruising with several other ships she was attacked by a massed force of six submarines off the coast of France on Sept. 5, the result of the attack being that two steamers were sunk and probably all of the submarines were lost."

The vessels were presumably under convoy of American destroyers, and it is believed that the warships were responsible for the sinking of the submarines. The details of the fight have not been received, nor were the names of the vessels sunk mentioned in the dispatches. It is not even known whether they were American ships. The department has called for additional information.

While the navy department announced did not specifically state that American destroyers were conveying the ships, it was announced recently that a policy of conveying fleets of merchantships across the Atlantic had been adopted and since the Westwego and the other merchant craft which were the objects of the submarine attack were bound for Europe it is regarded as more than probable that American warships guarded them.

The American warships have all been equipped with depth bombs for fighting submarines. This weapon has been perfected by American ordnance experts and proved very deadly. If the detailed reports bear out the first dispatch they will signalize the most notable action against the submarines since the war began as well as a striking victory for the American naval forces.

SUFFRAGE LOSES BY A BIG VOTE

With Only a Few Towns Missing, the Vote in Maine Was 33,121 to 17,132 in Monday's Special Election.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—The vote by which the constitutional amendment for woman suffrage was defeated in the special election in this state yesterday, with only a few small towns missing, was 32,121 to 17,132.

The voting was on a proposed constitutional amendment, adopted at the last session of the legislature, after 40 years of effort on the part of suffrage workers in Maine.

The result of the balloting on another constitutional amendment to empower the governor and council to remove sheriffs who fail to enforce the laws was close and the result uncertain at a late hour.

ARE RESISTING GERMANS.

Russians in Riga Sector Are Stiffening Their Defenses.

London, Sept. 11.—Russian troops are making a vigorous resistance in the Riga sector and have driven the Germans back at some points. The official report says:

"In the direction of Riga, in the region of Pakoff road, a battle is proceeding between advanced enemy detachments and our rear guards, who are holding back enemy attacks on the Burtneks line. In the direction of Segeval in certain sectors, our detachments have taken the offensive for the occupation of more favorable positions."

"A Battalion of Death of one of our divisions has repulsed the enemy near Mulde, throwing him back to the south and capturing four machine guns and ten prisoners."

"In the region northeast of Friedrichtadt, the enemy attempted to throw back our advanced posts without success. There is nothing material to report on the rest of the front."

PICK WILD BLACKBERRIES.

Demand for Jam Offers Chance for Children to Earn Patriotic and Extra Money.

Wild blackberries picked by children will help the army and navy to get the 11,000,000 pounds of blackberry jam they must have. In view of the shortage of cultivated blackberries, the United States department of agriculture urges the women and girls and boys to gather all the wild blackberries they can find, to supply commercial canning establishments.

Blackberry jam is particularly desirable because it has medicinal qualities which counteract certain intestinal troubles, in addition to its welcome place in the diet as a sweet.

CASE OF WOMAN GOES TO JURY

Arguments Made in Caledonia County Court in Trial of Mrs. Kenerson, Who Is Charged with Child Murder.

St. Johnsbury, Sept. 11.—The evidence in the Bradshaw murder case was concluded late yesterday afternoon and before court adjourned for the day Sheriff Attorney Campbell had made the opening plea and Attorney Harry W. Witters had followed for the defense. Lawyer Porter and Attorney-General Barber made their pleas this morning and the case will go to the jury this afternoon. Almost the entire day was spent by the two sides gathering up the loose threads in the case and calling and recalling the same witnesses to secure testimony in rebuttal.

Sheriff Worthen denied that he told Mrs. Kenerson soon after her arrest that Mrs. Hicks had confessed and that Mrs. Kenerson said in reply:

"I'll bet the child is alive."

He also denied that he then said: "So, Mrs. Kenerson, if you want to go home and find the child."

He also denied that after his visit with the respondent in jail he left her crying.

Dora Basaw of Hardwick testified for the defense that she was in jail when Mrs. Kenerson was arrested and that within an hour Sheriff Worthen told her, the witness said, that Mrs. Hicks had confessed and that Mrs. Kenerson said, "I'll bet the child is alive," and the sheriff replied, "If you want to go home and find the child."

Several times, the witness said, the sheriff took Mrs. Kenerson to another part of the jail and when they came back Mrs. Kenerson was crying. The attempt of the attorney-general to show that the Basaw girl was in jail, charged with adultery, was excluded by the court on the ground that there was no conviction.

Attorney Alexander Dunnett gave testimony to the effect that the child might have stumbled on a hillcock about a foot from the spot where the dead body lay. State's Attorney Campbell in his opening argument emphasized the fact that the respondent never said in her confession that she was innocent, but always told the same story as to her part in the killing of the child and the hiding of the body.

She said that she and her husband had deliberately committed the crime and she was charged with and that the motive was to get even with the child's father in the horse trade.

Lawyer Harry W. Witters followed for the defense, scathingly referring to the untruthfulness on the stand of the star witness for the state, John Kerwin, and paying his respects to George Leith of Boston, whom he characterized as a high-priced corned detective, who testified that for 25 years he has been engaged in getting voluntary confessions from criminals. Against the alleged confessions of a woman, detected to death by the officers and detective was the straightforward story of the respondent that she never killed the child; that she never left the house the night the state claimed she hid the body and that there was no motive for killing a child whom she repeatedly said, she loved.

NATIVE OF WATERBURY.

John F. Ladd Married Eliza Cheney of Barre.

Essex Junction, Sept. 11.—John F. Ladd died suddenly yesterday morning. He had suffered with hardening of the arteries and heart trouble, but had been about as usual. At about three o'clock yesterday morning he complained of a pain in his chest and went to bed. Mr. Ladd was born in Waterbury in 1850. He married Miss Eliza Cheney of Barre. They resided in Waterbury 23 years and then in Stowe until they moved here about four years ago. He also leaves one brother, Lafayette Ladd of Tolland, Conn.; a sister, Mrs. William Pratt of Stowe; and a half-sister, Mrs. Eaton of Spokane, Wash.

MANY CASES STRICKEN OFF

On Opening Day of September Term of Washington County Court

SEVERAL BARRE SUITS INCLUDED IN LIST

The Term Promises to Be of Short Duration

Washington county court convened at 10 o'clock this morning for the annual September term with Judge L. P. Slack of St. Johnsbury presiding. In the absence of Sheriff F. H. Tracy, who is in Maine in the interests of the Russell Sage Foundation, Deputy H. C. Lawson made the proclamation opening court, while the prayer was offered by Rev. F. Barnby Leach, pastor of the Episcopal church. Then followed the calling of the trial and court calendars, which resulted in some cases being disposed of, after which the general docket was called and more cases were disposed of.

The jury will not arrive until the 17th, owing to a change in the laws whereby the jury does not come the first week of court. This gives a chance for the attorneys to prepare their cases without the expense of a jury sitting about the first week of the term. The indications are favorable for a short term of court, although there are many chancery matters pending.

As a result of the calling of the court calendar the following cases were entered as settled and discontinued: National bank of Barre against Fayette T. Cutler; American Fidelity company against U. S. Fidelity & Guaranty company; Levi Swift against Fred P. Carlton, apt.; Nellie J. Roben against R. A. Hoar; William Ducham against Smiley and Farrar; Joseph Perkins against P. M. Ryan; F. Luce against Walter Krinivitz; Peter Crugolia against H. J. Clayton; Mitchell Gosant against George W. Heath; Louise Brown against Wallace Bartlett; E. L. Smith against C. A. Barton and H. J. Clayton; A. McIntosh & Co. against R. C. Bowers Granite Co.; George E. Megrath against Massachusetts Advertising & Sales Co.; Joseph Perkins against S. Massucco; Moody and Eaton against C. H. Clifford; Eva Nadeau against Charles Zanoloni, jr.; Julius A. Wilcox against Melvin G. Morse, which was a test case moved to the new jury law.

The first three cases which are on the jury calendar have been disposed of, two having been set to the court calendar and one to the heel of the criminal docket, so that it looks as though the first case for trial will be Austin H. Booth against Martin Mobbs and J. J. Turner, trespass, understood to be on the person as a result of a July 4 celebration over a year ago.

CROWD GATHERED FOR MURDER TRIAL

But Case of Robert Warm, Charged with Murdering Jennie Hemmingsway, Was Not Started This Forenoon.

St. Albans, Sept. 11.—Long before 9 o'clock this morning, the hour set for the opening of the regular term of Franklin county court, people began to gather and as court did not come in until after the arrival of the train from Richmond the court room was well filled at the opening. As many women as men were present, due to the fact that the case of Private Robert Warm of the United States army, charged with the murder of 14-year-old Jennie Hemmingsway of St. Albans, was set for this term. The case was not taken up, however, at the forenoon session.

Judge E. L. Waterman of Brattleboro is presiding over the session. The calling of the jury docket showed 12 cases set for trial. It was expected that the empanelling of a jury to try Warm would be started this afternoon.

The Hemmingsway girl's body was found just outside the city limits on the Newton road early the morning of Aug. 13. Warm and the dead girl's uncle, Joe Willey, found the body, and went to Postmaster W. H. Finn's house on Lower Newton street and Warm telephoned the police of the discovery. On the arrival of the police Warm told them that he was out walking with the girl the evening before and they were chased by United States cavalrymen whom he feared, as he had been threatened because they blamed him for the arrest of one of their number the Saturday night before.

Warm says that the soldiers followed him and the girl he ran north and the girl south. Later on Lake street he met Willey and asked him if he had seen the dead girl. Willey said he had not and Warm says that the soldiers followed them when he took a nap in the empty passenger car near the railroad station he was walking around the streets hoping to meet Jennie. Soon after he had met her uncle he went to the Hemmingsway house to inquire whether she had returned home.

The next morning he was waiting at the city hall for the arrival of the police to inform them of the absence of the girl when her uncle arrived and the two took up the search. Willey said that if he was guided to the place by Warm he was not conscious of the fact.

The afternoon of Aug. 15 Warm, who had been held at the county jail, was placed under bonds of $5,000, which was unable to furnish, as a material witness before the grand jury. Aug. 28 a special session of the Franklin county court was held, Judge Zed S. Stanton of Roxbury presiding, and a special grand jury was on hand to consider the case.

On Wednesday afternoon, Aug. 29, the grand jury, after listening to the testimony of 46 witnesses, returned a true bill and a few hours later Warm was placed under arrest at the county jail on the charge of murdering the Hemmingsway girl.

MRS. MARY S. WELCH.

Wife of Carlos B. Welch of Plainfield Road Died Today.

Mrs. Mary S. Welch, wife of Carlos B. Welch, passed away at her home on the Plainfield road this morning at 3:35 o'clock, the end following an illness of two weeks. Death was due to shocks which Mrs. Welch suffered a fortnight ago and Sunday. Besides her husband, she leaves a daughter, Mrs. Floyd Clark of the Plainfield road, and two sons, George S. Welch of Groton and Nelson Welch, who lives at home. There are also left two sisters, Mrs. Timothy Welch and Mrs. Samuel Goodwin of Groton.

The deceased was born Mary Scott in Groton in June, 1857. Her marriage to Mr. Welch took place in Groton Aug. 21, 1876. For some years thereafter the family continued to live in Groton, where Mrs. Welch was active in an organization of Pythian Sisters. The family removed to this section around 13 years ago and settled on the farm where Mrs. Welch died.

The body will be taken to Groton, where funeral services at the Baptist church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock are to be followed by interment in the village cemetery.

WOMAN'S FOOT BROKEN.

Mrs. Eva Clogston Injured in Printing Press at Montpelier.

Mrs. Eva Garten Clogston, who has been employed in the Capital City Press in Montpelier for several months, while feeding one of the press presses a little after 5 o'clock Monday afternoon received a bad injury to her left foot which will detain her from work for some weeks. It is thought that wanting to rest herself by changing positions, she placed her foot on a part of the base of the machine, and when the impression lock came up, it caught the toes, pinching the foot back to the instep. The machinery cleared about an inch at that place so that she received an ugly wound, badly lacerating the flesh and breaking nearly every bone in the top of the foot. The sole of the foot seemed to be intact.

She was taken to Dr. W. R. Harkness' office, where the wound was dressed after which she was carried to her home. Today she was as comfortable as can be expected. It is expected she will recover the use of the foot but that the injury will interfere with her walking to some extent.

Her child was the first one to have suffered infantile paralysis in Montpelier.

DRANK DENATURED ALCOHOL

John A. Holden, 69, Died in Few Hours at Rutland.

Rutland, Sept. 11.—John A. Holden, a wagon painter well known in this city, where he had passed the majority of his 69 years, drank almost the entire contents of an eight-ounce bottle of denatured alcohol yesterday afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock and died at the Rutland hospital at 7 o'clock last night.

He was first discovered in the yard of the Levi F. Miner place on Pine street, where he had been employed in years gone by, and it was at first supposed that he was under the influence of liquor. He asked to be sent to the Morse stables, where he worked up to two weeks ago, but later returned to the Miner premises, where he collapsed.

The police and Dr. F. H. Gebhardt were called and the physician soon saw the man was in a serious condition, so the ambulance was summoned and Holden was rushed to the hospital. Here he was treated by Drs. Gebhardt and A. H. Bellerose.

The bottle found in the man's pocket was plainly marked "Poison" and was purchased at the L. A. Miner drug store, where the clerks had complied with the law, the poison being properly registered in the book kept for this purpose.

He is survived by one sister, Miss Ellen Cook of No. 46 Chestnut avenue.

VERMONT SOLDIER HURT

L. P. Bishop of Bennington Fell From Train Platform.

Littleton, Mass., Sept. 11.—L. P. Bishop of Bennington, Vt., a private in troop G, 2d cavalry, was found lying near the North Littleton railroad station early yesterday morning, seriously injured. He fell from the platform of a train about midnight. When he found that his cries for help remained unanswered, he crawled a few rods to the door of the station, only to find it locked. He was compelled to remain on the platform until an early hour yesterday morning, when he was found by a workman.

Dr. Rogers was called, who found that the young soldier was suffering from broken ribs and other internal injuries. He took him at once to Ayer, where he turned him over to the care of the army physicians.

Bishop, it is believed, is in a critical condition.

MAGOON FOUND IN THE CELLAR

Barre Man, Alleged to Be a Slacker, Was Arrested Last Night

AFTER PERSISTENT SEARCH WAS MADE

He Was Compelled to Register and Was Then Held for a Hearing

Arthur Magoon was arrested last night on a charge of having failed to register and will be arraigned this afternoon before U. S. Commissioner H. C. Shurtliff. His arrest after a game of hide-and-seek with U. S. Deputy Marshal George F. Lackey and members of the Barre police force involved a number of complicating features and today the deputy marshal stated that a conference which he had had with District Attorney V. A. Bullard of Burlington probably would lead to other arrests as the result of efforts made to conceal the alleged slacker. Before his arraignment, Magoon was taken before the Washington county registration board and compelled to register for military service. Pending an investigation of the circumstances leading up to his arrest, it is expected that Magoon will be detained in custody, or else required to furnish bail.

The alleged slacker spent the night in a cell at Barre police headquarters and was turned over to Deputy Marshal Lackey late this forenoon. His arrest and the search which preceded his detention last night forms an interesting chapter. Around a fortnight ago it was reported in Barre that the young man, after his departure from this city last spring, had enlisted in a Canadian regiment and was bound for France. A young woman called at The Times office and asked the editor to print a news item to that effect. On the day following, Magoon's movements as a Canadian soldier were denied by his mother, Mrs. John Cayia. Early yesterday police headquarters got a tip that Magoon was in town. After ascertaining from George N. Tilden, chairman of the county registration board, that the young man had not registered in June, Officer David Henderson set about to locate the alleged slacker.

All clues led to the big apartment house at the end of Webster avenue, a street intersecting the main thoroughfare south of the South Main street bridge. In the afternoon, Chief Sinclair and Deputy Sheriff Henry Lawson called at the apartments of Everett C. Rogers and inquired concerning Magoon's whereabouts. Mrs. Rogers informed the officers that she had not seen the young man since he was employed as a coal team driver some months ago. Tenants downstairs in the house insisted that Magoon had been seen on the premises in the forenoon and before the officers left the street, Mrs. Rogers' tenement had been searched, but unavailingly. Later, after his capture, young Magoon explained the failure of the officers to find him on that occasion by saying that he was in Mrs. Rogers' apartment when he saw the officers coming up the street in an automobile and that he descended the rear stairs and hid himself in the basement while Chief Sinclair and the deputy sheriff were going up the front stairs. Mrs. Rogers' stout denial of any knowledge of Magoon's whereabouts cast a chill over the trail and the hunt was not resumed until tonight.

Soon after dusk Deputy Marshal Lackey, Deputy Chief Harry Canale and Officer Henderson again visited the apartment house and questioned Mrs. Rogers. Her husband was present at that time and he expressed a desire to see the alleged slacker captured if he were about the premises and said he was willing to have the place searched. Whereupon, the official party began carefully to go over the ground. The police say that Mrs. Rogers was advised frequently that if she harbored a slacker she was committing a serious offense, but she continued to deny that she had seen anything of the missing man.

Twice the deputy marshal and the police searched the apartment and extended their expedition to the basement. When it seemed that every inch of the premises had been covered, Officer Henderson expressed a determination to go over the grounds once more. Descending to the basement he examined several wood and coal bins and then his attention was diverted to a pile of cedar posts standing against the interior wall of the cellar. Proceeding cautiously and with the aid of a searchlight, the police began removing the posts. Somewhat to his surprise, the removal of two particularly heavy posts disclosed the face of a man lying on the ground and hugging close to the cellar wall. A further scrutiny disclosed the features of Magoon. The young man gave up without a struggle and accompanied the officer into the open. He did not talk much when questioned by Deputy Marshal Lackey, but the latter ordered him committed to the lock-up to await developments. Later in the evening Magoon assured the police that he was due to leave Barre during the night and that if he hadn't been captured in the cellar he would have been far away by morning.

Today the prisoner was somewhat crestfallen and not disposed to talk. He promised the deputy marshal that he would cause no more trouble and accompanied him to the capital without any show of bravado.

A NEW CASE

Of Infantile Paralysis Located on Summer Street.

Poliomyelitis was diagnosed in the Viechell family at 73 Summer street, just north of the Summer street school, this forenoon and the house, a four-tenement structure, has been placed under a strict quarantine by Health Officer Dr. J. W. Stewart. The patient is the 17-month-old daughter of the Viechells and is partially paralyzed. Four families are quarantined and the premises are patrolled by a policeman. The case is the 10th in Barre.
